

Labor Law/Unions

For decades our lawyers have successfully worked with employers to remain union-free. Our experience includes winning union elections and unfair labor practices cases before the National Labor Relations Board and similar local agencies. In fact, one of our senior lawyers began his career as a litigator for the NLRB. We have also successfully litigated union organizing, picketing, boycotting and violence injunction cases to aggressively defend the rights of employers, employees, and the public. We have negotiated favorable union contracts and arbitrated union grievances under union collective bargaining agreements. Our lawyers frequently advise and work with employers and their managers regarding compliance programs under various labor laws. Our lawyers have been recognized as contributing editors to the leading treatise on traditional labor law, "The Developing Labor Law."

We have represented multiple national and local clients in labor law issues including:

- CEMEX
- Multiple Florida Construction Companies
- Saint Leo University
- Shriners International
- Wal-Mart
