

Real Estate Litigation

Our Real Estate litigators regularly practice in the full spectrum of Real Estate Litigation including real property contract disputes, commercial and residential foreclosures, commercial and residential landlord-tenant litigation, homeowners associations and condominium law, title insurance litigation, eminent domain, inverse condemnation litigation, quiet title litigation, telecommunication tower litigation, and appeals of municipality and administrative final agency action related to real estate.

Our lawyers represent clients throughout the state of Florida foreclosing mortgages, judgment liens, construction liens or other security interests against both real and personal property. Our representation ranges from simple commercial disputes to complex commercial foreclosures. Our attorneys and staff are well versed in the applicable laws that affect the priorities and perfection of security interests.

The Real Estate Litigation Group also offers training and continuing education programs for our clients' personnel, and customize in-house programs that can be conducted through webinars, videos or web-TV broadcasts.

Our Real Estate Litigation attorneys also provide our clients with a "big picture" approach that enables them to enforce their rights quickly and economically.

Practice Team

Mark C. Anderson
Kenneth L. Bednar
Heather E. Bush
Carl Joseph Coleman
Meredith S. Delcamp
William M. Dillon
Kendra Loar Gaugush
Andrew M. Gordon
Jourdan Haynes
Thomas J. Hunt
John R. Keller
Corris L. McIntosh, Jr.
Robert L. Olsen
Hema A. Persad
Paul R. Pizzo
Kelly V. Robinson
Terrence Russell
Joshua Samuel Michael
Smith
S. Carey Villeneuve
Fred S. Werdine