

Health Insurance / Managed Care

Fowler White Boggs's Health Insurance, Managed Care and ERISA litigation lawyers draw upon extensive experience in insurance coverage and health care contract litigation. The attorneys in this litigation group have experience with representing health care providers and major health, life and disability insurance carriers through trials in state and federal court, with matters including entitlement to benefits, medical necessity determinations, reasonable rate of reimbursement issues, subrogation claims, and complex ERISA benefits litigation. These attorneys have represented major carriers in high profile benefits litigation statewide. The Firm has also represented employer-sponsors in coverage litigation and compliance matters.
