

Legislative Lobbying

Our Legislative Lobbying Group in Tallahassee has consistently been ranked among the leaders in this field for more than twenty years. Our personnel bring a wealth of legal, political, and governmental experience when representing a wide range of clients before the executive and legislative branches of state government. Such clients include industry leaders in telecommunications, information technology, energy, financial services, health care, education, agriculture, manufacturing, and economic development, as well as local governments and small businesses.

We have former heads of state administrative departments, former chiefs of staff for governors, agency heads and other career administrative personnel on staff who lend experience and an understanding of the state government that is unprecedented in a Florida state law firm.
