

Real Estate Litigation

Our Real Estate litigators regularly practice in the full spectrum of real estate litigation including real property contract disputes, commercial and residential foreclosures, commercial and residential landlord-tenant litigation, homeowners associations and condominium law, title insurance litigation, eminent domain, inverse condemnation litigation, quiet title litigation, telecommunication tower litigation and appeals of municipality and administrative final agency action related to real estate.

Our lawyers represent clients throughout the state of Florida foreclosing mortgages, judgment liens, construction liens or other security interests against both real and personal property. Our representation ranges from simple commercial disputes to complex commercial foreclosures. Our attorneys and staff are well versed in the applicable laws affecting priorities and perfection of security interests.

We also offer training and continuing education programs for our clients' personnel, and can customize programs that can be conducted in-house, through webinars or by video or web-TV broadcasts.

Our Real Estate Litigation attorneys add value by providing our clients with a "big picture" approach and enabling our clients to enforce their rights quickly and economically.

Practice Team

Kenneth L. Bednar
David D. Burns
Heather E. Bush
Tirso M. Carreja, Jr.
Carl Joseph Coleman
Thomas G. Coleman
Thomas C. Dearing
William M. Dillon
Kendra Loar Gaugush
Jourdan Haynes
Michael V. Leeman
Shari B. Olefson
Mary Scheps Scott
Scott A. Underwood
Kristen L. Wenger
Linda Jing Zhou