

Agribusiness

Agribusiness has long been a fundamental business throughout Florida. Our Firm has represented a number of the largest agribusiness companies in the state and has assisted them during their growth and often during very difficult times.

The latest developments in biofuels and the expected focus on agribusiness as an emerging source of less costly, more environmentally friendly fuel place increased pressures on the industry, while offering agribusiness companies new and more profitable opportunities.

Our Agribusiness Industry team brings together lawyers from various disciplines--corporate, land use and real estate, environmental, energy, regulatory and litigation--to focus on the needs of this industry segment.
