

Class Action Litigation

Class actions have increased dramatically in many areas of the law. Federal and state rules and case law governing class actions are also constantly changing and developing. Fowler White Boggs Banker has experienced litigators whose practices focus on class actions.

Fowler White has one of the strongest and most experienced teams of class action lawyers in the state of Florida. Our class action litigators handle cases in state and federal courts throughout Florida and across the country. We have defended class actions in numerous jurisdictions, including Arizona, California, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Illinois, Iowa, Louisiana, Minnesota, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Texas, Washington, D.C. and the U.S. Virgin Islands.

Our Class Action Litigation Group handles cases that involve insurance, health care, securities, financial services, consumer claims, products liability, employment and ERISA issues, and a variety of other subjects.
